Claypaky will be making its way to Mediatech Africa 2019, a biennial advanced media and entertainment technology trade show in Johannesburg. Held at the Ticketpro Dome from the 17th to the 19th of July, Claypaky will be at stand number B22 and welcomes lighting professionals to meet with Massimo Bolandrina, a Claypaky sales manager for multiple regions, and Kevin Stannett, a lighting sales representative from DWR Distribution the Claypaky distributor in South Africa, to view and learn about Claypaky's products.

This year Claypaky has the new Xtylos on display, a laser based compact beam moving light with unique optical and chromatic characteristics. This laser source, lasting for 10,000 hours, is enclosed in a reliable, safe and fully sealed module and it is the powerful engine of an incredible array of colours. The beam aperture is less than 2° and it can be decreased further to 0.5°.
