

Omega SURGE Technology Conference 2026

Posted on September 8, 2026

It was a true pleasure for DWR Distribution to be invited to participate in the Omega SURGE Technology Conference 2026, hosted at the stunning Avianto in Muldersdrift. Omega Digital brought together leading vendors and valued clients for a focused showcase on technology, meaningful networking, and practical solutions designed to elevate professional environments, from meetings and conferences to presentations, events and beyond.

Guided by hosts Dylan Jones, Timothy Wilson and Werner Niemann, the DWR Distribution stand proudly highlighted the Panasonic Business Range of projectors alongside Unilumin cutting-edge LED technology, giving attendees a firsthand look at tools that are shaping the future of visual communication. A big thanks also to Alice Huang and Chris Dong from Unilumin for being part of the exhibition.

“We appreciate the wonderful relationship we have built over the years with the team at Omega,” said Dylan Jones. “They brought in their clients, and it was great to meet, have a laugh and then chat about solutions that can change the way professional environments are experienced.”

DWR Distribution was also named Distributor of the Year at the Omega Digital Surge event. This award was voted for by Omega staff, based on their direct experience working with DWR, which makes it especially meaningful.

DWR Distribution's Robert Izzett, Dylan Jones and Werner Nieman

Omega Digital Solutions are known across Africa as the Collaboration Experts, delivering unified collaboration and AV solutions to organisations throughout the continent. Being recognised by their team as a top distributor was an honour.

