

Fashion by the sea

g on the Moyo Pier at the Durban beachfront recently. The show ites Cubes. The weather played along for this trendy event which il or unique setting.

Black Coffee supplied the full technical. The dimmers were at the beginning of the 120m ramp (pier), and there was a socopex run to each of the twenty-four 5m long truss totems erected and reinforced along the pier. Each totem was topped with 6 Par 64s. Set up was two days prior to the event. Simon Hampton was the lighting designer and operated the grandMA2. Also part of the team was g.

Some 350 guests on each side of the pier whilst the models paraded down the of their careers. The weather for the first evening was absolutely y on the second night.

This event, which really was rather simple, was something that wouldn't easily be forgotten. As the last van was leaving at 5am after strike we sat with our McDonalds breakfast and watched the sun come up over the ocean,â€• said Jewellyn Pieters. Idyllic.

Simon Hampton lit the show Image not found or type unknown image not found of type unknown

