

Introducing the 311 Collection from Ultimate Ears

Announcing 311 custom faceplates for Ultimate Ear Custom Earphones! The limited-edition 311 collection just dropped! Design your own UE Custom earphones or IEMs with these custom faceplates inspired by the 311 legacy.

311 has been part of the Ultimate Ears family since 2000, and we're thrilled to announce that our newest limited edition faceplate collection is centered around the feel-good Omaha rock legends.

From Music to landmark releases like Transistor and Soundsystem, 311's albums have a lot of history tied to their production. To give fans the feeling of experiencing these albums for the first time, every faceplate design puts a twist on their iconic artwork. "Fans will be able to spot the similarities and differences between our cover art and these designs," says bassist Aaron "P-Nut" Wills.

Available just in time for 311 Day—an official holiday started by fans and celebrated every March 3rd—the 311 Collection features unique designs that pay tribute to the band's first six studio albums and bring a fresh look to their futuristic grassroots style.

311 carved a path that led to 13 studio albums and a global community of loyal fans who've been gripping the edge of the stage since their beginning in Omaha, NE in the late '80s. But their connection to their fans doesn't stop at the stage. The band's biggest fans, driven by the unabashed positivity of 311's music, formed the 311 Nation, their own community.

Not many rock bands have staying power. Generally speaking, ten years is considered a good run for a band. To keep it going for longer than that, you have to have something special going on. To keep it going for more than 30 years, you have to be like 311.

And now those fans can not only hear their favorite music the way the band does, but in a truly special, unique style with the 311 faceplate collection from UE.
