

Lightpower Group builds new headquarters

Posted on July 20, 2025

The family-run Lightpower Group unites national and international sales companies in the field of professional stage lighting. And they have been doing so for more than 45 years. In addition to Lightpower GmbH, which distributes an exclusive brand portfolio in Germany and Austria, the company MA Lighting International operates worldwide as a master distributor.

With the Lightpower Group's new building, these companies will also move under a "new roof" in the future and are scheduled to move into their new home in mid-2026. After more than 35 years, the company leaves the location at "An der Talle" and lays the foundation stone for the new headquarters at "Barkhauser Straße" in Paderborn.

The owners are thus committed to the local business location: “With the new Lightpower Group building, we are taking an important and targeted step into the future. In doing so, we remain firmly rooted in the city of Paderborn,” says Philipp Wezorke, shareholder and managing director of the Lightpower Group. “At the new headquarters, we will meet the requirements of our continuous growth in recent years and create further space for the Group’s further development.”

The newly created operating area of approx. 10,000 m² is divided into warehouses and logistics, the manufacturing business of the company’s own brand Major Lighting, service workshops and administrative areas with offices, showrooms and training rooms.

“With a training center including affiliated showrooms, as well as expanded service, manufacturing and logistics areas, a forward-looking forum within our industry will be created, while the focus remains clearly on our users and customers,” says Wezorke. “We will continue to welcome our national and international customers as well as the creative minds of the world of lighting to Paderborn for an exchange of ideas and knowledge transfer.”

Making technologies and the people behind them a personal experience

Stephan Saremba, Managing Director of MA Lighting International, adds: “We are delighted that the new Lightpower Group building will provide the brand MA Lighting with an environment that supports and reflects our role as the global market leader in the field of stage lighting control. The modern, sustainable and digitally oriented location offers ideal conditions for providing even better support to our international customers. At the same time, it is important to us to welcome MA users from all over the world to Paderborn – so they can interact with our solutions, our technologies and, above all, the people behind the brand.”

Philipp Wezorke concludes: “The new building will give the Lightpower Group and its affiliated subsidiaries a new look, while our values, which are the foundation of our success, remain unchanged. The focus remains on people, whether as customers, prospects, suppliers or employees. The new building will clearly express this focus in terms of design and architecture.”
