

Quest Open Day in June!

Jaco Beukes, Kyle Robson and the latest Quest shipment. See you at the Quest Open Day!

DWR Distribution is over the moon to officially host a Quest Open Day, where clients will meet up with Frank Andrewartha from Quest and view the excellent range of well-priced loudspeakers and amplifiers. Join DWR in Johannesburg on the 18th June, Durban on the 20th June or Cape Town on the 22nd June, to hear what it's all about!

"We will have the bulk of the Quest range on display for our customers to view," commented Robert Izzett from DWR. "A forty-foot container has arrived and demo kits will be delivered to each DWR branch in time for the Quest Open Day." DWR took over the Quest agency at the end of last year, and the products are selling like hot cakes.

Quest offers good quality at cost-effective prices. While the audio brand has enjoyed success across the globe as an ideal tool for installations at churches, restaurants, schools and smaller venues, Quest is making a huge dent in the rental market. "The gear is robust and just doesn't break," said Izzett. "Quest is also an excellent solution for smaller events and conferences in the rental market, when a large line-array is not required. It really is the perfect product, backed up with fantastic service from the Quest team."

The Quest Open Day, which runs from 9 am to 5 pm, will include two small workshops presented by Andrewartha at 10 am and 2 pm daily. Everyone is welcome to attend – pop in at a time most convenient to you.

Look out for our official invitation to follow. You are also welcome to e-mail rsvp@dwrdistribution.co.za to confirm your attendance.
