

Robe shine at Mediatech Africa

Robe has been celebrating its 25th year and some of the team – led CEO Josef Valchar and international sales director Harry von den Stemmen – helped bring their party to Mediatech Africa 2019.

The Robe stand was home to selected fixtures celebrating a range of best sellers and some of the newest technologies.

Robe's exhibition manager Tomas Kohout and Jordan Tinniswood from Robe UK worked alongside lighting technician Olebogeng Boinamo, from South African distributor DWR Distribution, looking after the stand, giving demonstrations and answering questions from many existing and prospective customers.

“People were generally interested in all the products, however the T1 Profile, the RoboSpot system and the SilverScan attracted particular attention,” says Olebogeng. “Almost everyone passing by played with the RoboSpot and was interested enough to ask about how it worked” observed Tomas.

Josef, Harry, Robe's technical specialist Radim Zlebek and theatre / performing arts expert David Whitehouse all enjoyed Mediatech Africa 2019 and seized it as a perfect opportunity to meet up with old friends and make new ones in South Africa.

Showing off the newest products which they are renowned, the Robe team were a big a hit at the expo.
