

Congratulations to Gearhouse

Splitbeam who are celebrating their first birthday.

A clearly proud (and rightly so), Alistair Kilbee, Managing Director of Gearhouse Splitbeam, gave us feedback. “It is truly amazing to me, that in the first year of Splitbeam we have had such great support from so many people in the theatre industry. I had dreamed about starting a theatre-based, rental company for over 15 years now; so to have actually done it and seen it grow so fast is beyond my wildest dreams. Only in South Africa would a company be able to supply lights for this many different shows in their first year. Our market is unique as our shows have short runs giving us the opportunity to work on more productions in a short space of time.

“Splitbeam is a company that prides itself on doing the job properly rather than focusing on the amount of revenue involved. Having this many world-class shows on our wall in the first year is mind-blowing, and this first year’s wall means a lot to me. My dream for the future is that Splitbeam becomes the first stop for theatre productions in South Africa and that we continue to help South African designers with high quality lighting equipment at theatre-friendly pricing for years to come. So thank you all for your support in this first year. “

Well done to Alistair and Nasim Bismilla! May you continue to enjoy success and joy in what you do.
