

The Main Studio

Cape Town based Ultra Events has launched Streamstudio, a creative space for creative content, to complement their existing service as a technical and rental supply company.

With easy access to the N2, N1 and the Southern Suburbs, Streamstudio is conveniently situated in Observatory.

With over 25 years' experience in the event industry, Costa Champanis and his team at Ultra have built a reputation of trust, delivering quality equipment backed up by a skilled and caring team. If you've ever been to their offices, it's like meeting up with family. And if there is time to spare, Costa will often take you for a walk to Lower Main Road where you'll have a wonderful cup of coffee and a catch up, not forgetting the latest updates on your family and dogs. The new Streamstudio continues this legacy, providing clients with solutions where they are looked after while having access to a variety of studio spaces at competitive prices.

The welcoming reception area.

Streamstudio has been cleverly designed to accommodate stills, tv shoots, digital content, live stream content, podcasts, webinars, small events, music videos, rehearsal space, educational platform and a platform for any film or recording needed.

Their green screen studio is the ideal platform to transform a space to whatever a client may need. To paint a picture, the solution could see the hosts sitting in a 'kitchen setting' presenting a cooking show, or at a touch of a button, the space could be displaying data and stats for a financial institution. In the years gone by, a green screen was only used to make films. Now, visual effects or computer-generated images can be executed to create the perfect background and take the viewers on a journey.

Studio 1 - The Boardroom, fresh and bright

Over the years, Ultra have stocked up with a comprehensive variety of world-class gear including a DiGiCo SD12 digital mixing console for audio, Robe fixtures for lighting, MA lighting control desks, Philips lighting fixtures and Longman lighting products to ultimately enhance the quality of the end-products. Whether clients need a single studio for a shoot or a full technical solution that will enable them to record, stream or shoot a video, the Ultra team look forward to being of assistance.

Studio 2- Artists will feel comfortable in this dressing area

The Ultra crew have had to re-think how to re-apply their business assets, with creativity and fit for client purpose at the heart of the StreamStudio concept, conference green screen shoots, live DJ productions, band video recordings, fashion shoots, live band streams, stream educational sessions have been completed thus far.

Studio 3 – A lounge setting, perfect for interviews
