de Bruin, Marcell Wahl at the console and (Back Right) Craig Kilian. It took little convincing to persuade the team at CES Media to purchase a new Avolites Pearl Tiger.

CES Media already have a Pearl Expert and needed an additional console for their smaller shows. "They came to our shop on Thursday to have a look at the Pearl Tiger," commented Robert Izzett from DWR Distribution. "The next day they called to ask if they could see the desk."

Preparing for the demo, Robert decided to make out an invoice for the Tiger... just in case! To his delight, Dylan Bridle and the team at CES Media loved the console and took immediate ownership of it.
