

Two cities, three days of Training

Posted on September 16, 2026

It's been a busy week for training at DWR Distribution, with industry training taking place across both Johannesburg and Durban.

In Johannesburg, Kyle Robson kicked off a full day of DiGiCo Basic S-Series and Quantum Training, giving delegates plenty of hands-on time with the consoles. The session covered workflow, navigation, patching, routing, signal flow and Quantum features, with delegates getting the opportunity to explore the systems in a practical environment.

Two cities, three days of Training

Meanwhile, at the DWR Durban Branch, the new Roy Wood Training Room hosted its first two-day Unilumin Certified Engineer (UCE) Training, presented by Dylan Jones. It was a great start for the new training space, bringing industry professionals together to and get hands-on with the latest technology.

Thank you everyone for joining us!

Two cities, three days of Training

Two cities, three days of Training

